Es el primer campo en toda América Latina diseñado por Jack Nicklaus y construido para complementar la rústica naturaleza de Los Cabos, México.

Called "one of the most spectacular courses I've ever seen" by Nicklaus himself.

The Jack Nicklaus Signature course opened in 1992, and has since been referred to as "nothing short of extraordinary" by golf critics and professionals worldwide. The Palmilla Golf Club is a target-style, par 72 course currently featuring 18 holes -the Mountain and Arroyo Nines. An additional Ocean Nine is slated to open for play by March of 1999.

"Many people had approached me regarding designing courses in Mexico, but no one offered as much potential for unparalleled golf as Koll Resorts International," said Jack Nicklaus. "The Palmilla course is a 30 year dream come true."

The Palmilla Golf Club has received numerous awards and accolades from top national golf publications, including LINKS, Golf week and Golf World. Golf Digest named Palmilla "a TOUR course in the making," and recently honored the course with four and a half stars. Nicklaus' first course in Latin America, the Palmilla Golf Club was designed and built to compliment the rustic nature of Los Cabos, Mexico. Boasting views of the Sea of Cortés, the course winds around centuries-old cardon cacti, past desert arroyos, over rugged mountain terrain and down to the ocean.
